FIRE SWEEPS HISTORIC CITY

St. Augustine, Florida, Suffers $1,000,000 Disaster from Furious Flames

FIVE GREAT HOTELS ARE REDUCED TO ASHES

Many Historic Buildings Are Destroyed—One Casualty Only is Reported

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., April 2.—Fire did at least $1,000,000 damage here today. For a time St. Augustine was threatened with complete destruction. Toward noon it was believed the flames were under control but they were still sweeping the waterfront. Federal troops in the barracks are ready to act if looting begins.

The buildings destroyed include the courthouse, the Claremont, Vedder, Macnolia, Munson and Florida hotels. The city lighting plant is out of commission.

The burned area included everything between Charlotte, Treasury, Hupolita and St. George streets. As far as known the only casualty was that of an unidentified woman whose back was broken by leaping from a third-story window in the Florida Hotel, dying in a hospital. The fire started in the Hotel Florida's kitchen shortly after daylight. As it spread, the guests from other hotels poured into the streets, many of them scantily clad. As many as possible are being cared for at the Ponce de Leon and other large hotels which were believed to be safe. Of the buildings destroyed, aside from the cash value, several were of historical interest.

The Central and Atlantic Hotels, the Lynn building, the Geneva Theater and the Joseph Apartments were also destroyed. The Macnolia house, another widely known hotel, was asseverated times, but was finally saved. An old slave market was opened as headquarters for fire relief.

TO SADDLEBACK FOR TAKING PHOTOS

Committee Appointed Last Night at Chamber of Commerce to Perfect Plans

PICTURES TO BE MADE OF SANTA ANA VALLEY

One of the Best Publicity Moves Ever Launched by Local Hustlers

That about twenty members of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, accompanied by local and Los Angeles newspaper men, will make a photographing trip to the top of Saddleback some time in May was decided at a meeting of the local Chamber last night. The meeting was an important one in another respect, as fourteen new members were enrolled. L. L. Shaw and George S. Smith were appointed a committee to perfect arrangements for the trip to Saddleback. It was decided that during the full of the moon in May will be the best time for the expedition as then the atmospheric conditions will be ideal for taking pictures. In May the risks of encountering bad weather conditions will be few.

A first class photographer will accompany the party and make either telephoto or ordinary panoramic pictures of the Santa Ana valley. The view from the top of Saddleback is one of the most magnificent in Southern California.

There is no doubt that this contemplated trip is one of the best publicity movements ever undertaken by the Chamber of Commerce. The Los Angeles papers are certain to give the account of the trip a great deal of space, and people, especially tourists, will become acquainted in this way with the fact that Orange county has one of the finest natural beauty spots in the world.

On clear days, when conditions are just right, it is possible to see the entire coast line from Point Loma in the south to points on the coast of Ventura county.

The party will go from here to Andrew Joplin's place in the Bell canyon in automobiles. From there the remaining eight miles to the top of the mountain, which has a 6000-foot elevation, will be made on horseback. Burros will be used to carry the blankets and provisions. A tentative plan is to get into communication with the Serrano brothers in order that a barbecue may be prepared.

Two days will be taken for the trip. The party will leave Santa Ana one morning, spend the night on the top of the mountain and return the following afternoon.

In the opinion of a great many local people the view from Saddleback will become world-famous. A road along the top of the ridge, connecting the Trabuco and the Silverado canyons, is not an impossibility. When built, it is certain to become one of the most remarkable scenic drives known. The Chamber of Commerce is anxious to keep up its reputation for hustling. It wants the credit of being the first organization to begin advertising Saddleback to the world.

Smokeless Frying and Fireless Cooking to Be Demonstrated at the Register's Cooking School

BUTTERLESS CAKES TO BE BUILT BY MISS PEET

Elks' Hall to Be Transformed Into Domestic Science Kitchen

Cooking School Opens Monday, April 6, 2:30 p. m.

Many interesting features will mark the cookery demonstration of the Register Cooking School to be conducted by Miss Florence M. Peet in Elks Hall next week. Miss Peet brings a message of hope to housewives in the shape of smokeless frying. She will also prove that the fireless cooker is the housekeeper's friend and will among other demonstrations of economical cooking, make cakes without butter.

Miss Peet has studied household economics thoroughly. She says this is indisputably an era of high prices. This fact must be faced, but she says it is not at all a matter of discouragement, and that American women everywhere are learning to keep house economically in spite of high prices. Miss Peet says that prices are higher but food is better. Pure food laws and enforced better sanitary conditions make for higher prices, but we get a much higher quality of food for our money. She will have many helpful suggestions to offer along the line of economical marketing, and will show Santa Ana housewives how they can reduce the cost without lowering the standard of living.

Hall to be Comfortable

As many hundreds of women will be eager to hear Miss Peet lecture and see her cooking demonstrations and taste the fine dishes she will prepare, a large hall has been secured. Ample and comfortable seating is being arranged, so that Elks Hall will be a most comfortable place in which Santa Ana housewives may take a profitable vacation next week. While they will be relieved from housekeeping duties for several hours each day, they will nevertheless be learning many helpful ideas and suggestions which they can put into immediate use in their household operations. The chief charm of Miss Peet as a domestic science lecturer and culinary expert is that all her theories have been tried out and proven practical; all of her methods have been put to the actual working test and are indisputably good ones. Her manner of telling about them is simple and unscientific; her terms are just the ordinary everyday ones housekeepers themselves use in discussing their household problems. Housekeepers, professional cooks, domestic science teachers and students all vie with each other in praising Miss Peet and approving of her lecture course and cooking lessons.

Will Make Home-Made Bread

Miss Peet is a firm believer in home cooking. She says there are very few if any families who do not prefer the canned fruits, preserves and pickles. She says many women have an idea that the preparation of all these things will require too much time and drudgery, but that on the other hand what they do require is intelligence and skill. Miss Peet says cooking is a most fascinating art and that the housekeeper who has not found this out is unfortunate, indeed. She believes she will be able to convince all who attend the Register Cooking School of this interesting fact.

She believes in plain cooking, well done, and will show Santa Ana women the value of this. She will show them how to make good home-made bread that will weather their husbands' faces in smiles that won't wear off. She will show them, too, how to cook a steak in a manner to convince any man that he doesn't know how to do this better than any woman alive. Miss Peet says that men labor under this delusion. She will demonstrate how to make wholesome pies, another cookery feat which will please the men, for whoever saw a man who didn't like more pie than was good for him? But Miss Peet makes the kind that he can eat all he wants of without fear of distress.

Other good news relating to the Register Cooking School will appear tomorrow.

VILLA REPORTS VICTORY AT TORREON

Inform Carranza of Practical Capture of City—Federals Yet Dispute Claim

JUAREZ, April 2.—Following two hours of telegraphic communication this morning between Generals Carranza and Villa, rebel officers declared that Torreon has practically been in Villa's hands since last Tuesday. Villa tried to keep this fact quiet for fear it might frighten the federal reinforcement away. Only two remnants of the federal garrison were holding out early today, and these were momentarily expected to fall.

General Carranza, with a private operator, took charge of the telegraph office during the conference with Villa. He went thoroughly into the situation at Torreon. According to his aides, Villa reports the major portion of the federals as succeeding in getting out of the city and reaching a strongly fortified position a few miles southward, where they were fighting stubbornly.

Details may not be known for days.

200 MEN LOST OR DEAD ON CAPE RACE ICE FLOES

CURLING, Newfoundland, April 2.—More than 200 men from the steam sealer Newfoundland are either dead today or lost on the ice floes off Cape Race as a result of a blizzard which swept the coast Tuesday and today. The Red Cross ship Florizel reported by wireless that she is steaming through the Straits of Belle Isle with fifty corpses aboard. The message did not say whether the Newfoundland sank or not, but the impression gained here is that the men were on the ice seal hunting when the storm came up suddenly, cutting them off so they were unable to regain the ship.

From St. Johns, Newfoundland comes word that the sealing steamer Southern Cross met disaster in the furious blizzard. Many of its crew are said to be dead with others dying from exposure.

ANT TO STOP THE SALE OF CULL ORANGES

vina Growers Say Poor Fruit Bought by Peddlers Spoil a Market

COVINA, April 2.—What may prove to be the organization of a movement that will spread to every fruit-growing community in the state, was launched here yesterday, through the meeting of thirty prominent business men and growers in the offices of the Covina Orange Growers' Association.

Officers and directors of every fruiting association in the valley, represented by the heads of business houses in Covina, formed an organization which is to be known as the "Covina-California Orange Boosters." One of the significant provisions of the objects of the new association is an elimination of the selling of all oranges to fruit-vendors, so that the people of California and the Pacific coast may receive the better grades of fruit, thus creating a market for oranges at home, where hitherto there has been practically no sale for the "Standard," "Choice," and "Fancy" packs. It is believed that, by refusing to sell the culls for consumption in such cities as Los Angeles, a very appreciable difference can be made in the number of carloads of fruit that now are sent into the East.

Members in this meeting pointed out that carloads of culls, sold to private dealers for 5 cents the loose box, were at the present time being shipped from Southern California points to El Paso, Sacramento and other large cities, thus shutting out the possibility of putting good fruit into these markets. As one man characterized it, "We are practically giving away culls by the carload that are sold again for prices that we would be glad to get for our best fruit."

The objects of the new organization go deeply into the question of popularizing the eating of California oranges in the East. The articles in the laws speak of a great campaign among California business men, asking them to exact from the wholesale houses of the East that they give away California oranges to every employee on a national California orange day. The articles also set forth an elaborate scheme of advertising, "in every form known to the advertising world."

It is the intention of the Covina men to launch the plan in the valley at a mass meeting to be held next Tuesday night in the Covina High School building, when every rancher will be asked to become a member at a very nominal sum as membership fee. At this meeting it is the intention of the officers to have present several of the leading officials of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, and prominent independent shippers.

$100,000,000 FOR NEW RESERVE BANKS

Government Statement Shows
Institutions in Good Shape for System

WASHINGTON, April 2.—The new federal reserve banking system will start business with a total authorized capital of about $100,000,000 for all reserve banks. This fact became apparent last night when figures were made public from all national banks responding to the last call of the Comptroller of the Currency, made March 4.

The total capital and surplus of the 7494 national banks reporting was given at about $1,788,000,000, and 6 per cent of this total would be about $107,000,000. There were only 7465 national banks who signified in the legal time their intention to enter the system, but the entrance into the system of state banks and trust companies will tend to offset this, and may bring the capital of all reserve banks near $110,000,000.

The actual working capital of all the banks may reach only half this amount for the law provides mandatory subscriptions of three-sixths of the total 6 per cent. The reserve board, which will direct the system, however, is authorized to demand the payment of the other three-sixths.

The statement today shows national banks in excellent condition to meet the demands of the new law. Loans and discounts on March 4, 1914, amounted to $6,357,535,898, a gain over January 13, 1914, the time of the last call, of $182,130,936. The loan and discount increase, taken together with the fact that individual deposits increased in the same period by more than $39,000,000, was said to be the best indication that the national banks are in shape to meet the demands of the new system.

SENSITIVE PLANTS.

Sunshine at Night Doesn't Fool the Flowers in the Arctic.

The sensitiveness of plants is a never failing interest to all lovers of the woods and fields. Like a human being sensing a fall in the barometer and the coming of a rainstorm, so the clover in the meadow feels and shuts its leaves. A close observer says that a field that was white with blossoms has suddenly become quite changed by the approach of a heavy cloud or the falling of a light shower.

The common chickweed opens its blossom only when the sun is shining and counts on only the bright hours. When it closes its blossoms rain invariably follows. The sea purslane has the same habit. It never opens in cloudy weather and closes when the sun is low, about to sink. The scarlet pimpernel never exposes its flowers to a shower.

One of the naturalists in an arctic expedition noticed that, although the summer sun shone through the nights, the plants made no mistake, but when the sun got round to the west they closed up as if the sun had really set.

The common "four o'clock" almost always closes its flowers at that hour, and so many plants have that instinct that Linnaeus made a floral clock of flowering plants, each of which had its time for closing. The wood sorrel not only drops its leaves and shuts its purple veined flowers when it rains, but does the same if the ground near by is struck with a stick. The family of the oxalis has the same habit.—New York Sun.

EGGS THAT CROAK.

Young Crocodiles Are Heard Before They Are Hatched.

That young unhatched crocodiles utter an audible croaking cry within the eggs in which they are laid is averred by knowledge, and it adds the cry is so loud and distinct that it can be heard when the eggs are buried under one or two yards of sand.

Dr. W. A. Lamborn tested the fact at Lagos on the West African coast. He heard a croaking noise from below a dry path, and, digging in the path to investigate the cause, he discovered thirteen crocodile's eggs at a depth of about eighteen inches. All the young crocodiles hatched out within half an hour of being dug up.

So far back as 1899 Dr. Voeltzkow noticed that unhatched Madagascan crocodiles uttered a cry from the egg at a depth of two yards and that any shock, as of a heavy tread, near the egg caused the baby crocodiles to produce this sound "with the mouth closed, as we produce hiccup sounds." In this way they inform the female crocodile when she visits the nest that they want her aid, whereupon she scrapes the sand away and they emerge.

Apples With Worms.

May it not be that we get a keener pleasure out of eating an imperfect apple than a perfect one? It is neither the best possible apple, which would be perfect, nor the worst possible apple, which would have a kind of negative perfection; it has a worm at the core. But I wonder whether we do not enjoy it more because we have to eat the more carefully to keep from eating him. Besides, he arouses in our mind all sorts of questionings. Why is he there? What kind of worm is he? How did he get in? How would he have got out if we had not ousted him? And—note this—what sort of apple would it have been if he had taken up his residence elsewhere? The perfect apple could have roused no queries which the defective apple does not. The same subtle influences went to make both—the same elements, the same forces, the same chemical processes. But the defective apple has in addition to all these—the worm.—Robert M. Gay in Atlantic.

Cocaine and Crime.

Police authorities have come to regard cocaine as one of the recognized sources of crime. The cocaine fiend seems to have his moral sense destroyed. The morphia devotee is often a man of refined and elevated thought, with delicate perceptions and with a keen sense of honor and obligations, except that he will always lie and deceive to get possession of his needed "dose." In his sober moments the alcohol fiend is often a man of conspicuous honor. The cocaine fiend seems different. It is believed that cocaine directly stimulates to evil passions and evil deeds.—Family Doctor.

Hollow Tooth Ache.

If you have a hollow tooth and it aches cut a piece of clove to fit the cavity and put it in lightly, allowing the upper part to stick out like a cork in a bottle. It will soon swell, keeping the air from the nerve, and the pain will cease until the clove drops out, when it may be replaced by an other.—Exchange.

Steady Employment.

"It's lucky I should meet you, Smith. There's a little bill you owe Timkins, the tailor. He's comin' sioned me to collect it."

"Has he, old man? Well, I'm glad you've got a permanent job at last."

London Tatler.

Impertinent.

"I remember very well the first dollar I ever put in the bank."

"The first? Then you have put in more than one?"—New Orleans Picayune.

Just a Deduction.

"What is his sphere in life?"

"Well, judging from the circle of his acquaintances, I'd say he was a rounder."—California Pelican.

At the great Panama-Pacific International Exposition, San Francisco, 1915, Mahomet's Mountain will be the supreme Amusement attraction.

At any moment we expect a permit to begin building; our plans have been accepted and the bonds are being prepared.

There remains but a limited amount of treasury stock to sell. The moment building begins it will be all eagerly snapped up.

Now is the time to purchase. One good investment like this is worth a lifetime of labor.

Most of the profits of this wonderful money-making production should come to Orange County. Get in with your neighbors and share the harvest.

Our large financial family—nearly 800 —expects to divide profits of 10 to 1, including Moving Picture returns, souvenir sales and other sources of income.

Mahomet's Mountain should make enormous sums of money not only at the Exposition, but for many years to come. It has a corporate life of fifty years.

Erected at Coney Island, N. Y., and other large Amusement centers its profits should exceed even those at San Francisco.

At San Francisco it will dominate the Fair. Laughter-loving, sensation-seeking crowds should flock to its wonders.

Thirty-four years' World's Fair experience is embodied in this Mountain of Marvels.

THE LOCATION OF "STYLE"

A representative of the Paris fashion house of Paquin has just returned to New York, after visiting Chicago, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Boston, and other leading American cities, with samples of spring gowns. Asked as to where she found the best styles, she spoke particularly of Chicago. She was impressed by the large number of stylishly dressed women on the streets of that city, and their knowledge of how to wear good clothes.

Admirers of dress often contend as to where the best styles may be found. Such debates relate not merely to the larger cities of the country. The women of one city are often condemned wholesale by their neighbors, because they give collectively no impression of this elusive quality.

To the masculine mind, however, style parades, such as one goes in a metropolitan center on Easter Sunday, are seen with the customary skepticism of the uninitiated. To this view, it is more or less of a circus show. If a style is manifestly unfit or undignified, it conveys the impression of eccentricity rather than beauty.

A girl who had acquired an extreme specimen of a new type of skirt, the other day anxiously inquired of a friend whether it was too radical. "Yes, it looks awfully," was the reply, "but it is just fine for style."

Where the women of a city or a given social circle acquire the reputation of unusual style, it is at the expense of many normal functions. No person, man or woman, can take his full share of the real labor of the world, if that person's mind is very largely bent on giving a surpassingly stylish appearance. It is a game that requires attention, thought, discussion, comparison of views between different people, time spent on tailors and dressmakers. All of which detracts from the time and money one can spend on the higher satisfactions of life.

THE MINISTER'S FEE

In early days clergymen were forced to depend in considerable measure for their living on donation parties. This was one of the heaviest of the many crosses these men of God had to bear. It was customary in the fall of the year to stock their cellars with liberal supplies of firewood, fruits, vegetables, and meats. Cash payments were meager, infrequent, and irregular. But with a bin of potatoes and a barrel of salt pork below, there was no danger of actual starvation.

The churches long ago substituted salary payments, more or less periodic, for the old fashioned donation parties. But one single exception, the custom of the wedding fee, has survived. Trinity Episcopal church of Chicago has just announced a plan to have a minister on hand continuously to perform weddings at which no fee will be accepted.

Clergymen are now—and always have been, for that matter—averse to anything even slightly suggestive of the tip you hand to a Pullman porter. Few railroads give ministers free passes as formerly. The minister's fee at the wedding has long furnished material for humorous paragraphs, and some would like to see the custom done away with.

The objection to the course suggested by Trinity church of Chicago is that clergymen are usually underpaid. A few metropolitan clergies, who combine fascinating eloquence of speech with a gift for executive administration of large institutional plants, may draw comfortable incomes. But this combination of gifts is rare. The average country minister thinks he is on "Easy Street" if he draws $1000 a year. Thousands and thousands of them work for $2.00 a day, less than the average mechanic receives.

The marriage fee is a tax that comes once or twice in a lifetime, and it bears on about every one, and helps to support unselfish work for community service. When clergymen are adequately paid, no doubt it will fall into disuse. The felicitous hour of marriage opens up many simultaneous purses, in support of agencies that work for community betterment.

CAMPBELL MAY GET OUT OF ALL HIS TROUBLES

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—When Walter Greer Campbell, a former millionaire, appeared before Police Judge Deasy today to answer the charge of wife abandonment brought by Susie Barth, it was announced that the case would be dropped. Assistant District Attorney Canban objected to Susie Campbell's dropping the case, and demanded an explanation of her charges. A week's postponement was taken in the fictitious check charge case against Campbell.

GOULD'S WARM REPLY TO IROQUOIS CLUB CIRCULAR AGAINST "CALIFORNIA DRY"

The liquor interests of California are making a strenuous effort to create the impression that "California Dry" would mean economic disaster. They are also trying very hard to line up the Democratic party against "California Dry."

When the secretary of the league of Iroquois clubs of the state sent a circular to Will D. Gould of Los Angeles, announcing the action of the league in opposing prohibition in California, he ran into a hornet's nest. Mr. Gould is a Democrat but he is also a strong temperance man, and he "comes back" in great shape at the Iroquois club resolutions as framed and expounded by Theodore Bell. His reply makes interesting reading and the following excerpts will give an idea of its character:

Your printed circular to the Democrats of California, against state-wide prohibition, is this day received and contents carefully noted.

Permit me to call your attention to several statements and conclusions in the circular which are not true and which ought to be corrected:

1. It is not true that the amendment will destroy the "largest farming industry in California."

2. It is not true that "it means bankruptcy and ruin to many thousands of people," or of any people.

3. It is not true that "the people have invested their life earnings in the grape industry upon the invitation of both state and nation," or either of them.

4. It is not true that the Prohibition party "has tendered this issue to the other great parties of California."

5. It is not true that the "Iroquois club can review with pride the development of the wine industry in California" or that "this industry has been conducted on clean, high ground, free from abuses, promotive of general temperance and a business in which any good man or woman might worthily engage."

6. It is not true that "it is in keeping with Democratic principles to stand" by "this industry," or that it "has brought only credit and glory to the state of California."

The wine industry is not a very large farming industry, and it is generally believed that more intoxicating wine has been made in the cellars of our great cities than in all the vineyards of America.

I have lived in Los Angeles more than 42 years and have carefully studied economics and political questions and I submit that there never was an economic or political question without a moral base that would stand the test of time; and that the so-called "wine industry" that kills continually has no moral base and has no economic value. It has tarnished the fair name of many people and destroyed entire families in California and is a constant blight upon our entire economic and political system.

I have planted and own in this county a 40-acre vineyard of table grapes and I sold my grapes this year for $32 per ton on the vines, while my neighbors sold their wine grapes at $10 per ton delivered at the winery. My grapes went to feed the hungry. The wine grapes went to mock and curse and kill my fellows.

By and by we will have State aid in telling the truth about this matter and thereby increase the grape industry. By and by we will turn the wineries and breweries into bottling works to furnish pure wine, the fruit of the vine, the unfermented grape juice, the blood of the grape, not the blood irritant, but blood food for both well and sick, young and old, and thus furnish an ever increasing market for a most wholesome food which we now

FOR THE WORKER IN SOIL

WASHINGTON, Apr. 2.—Wurra! Wurra! The glory of Erin has departed; the shamrock is wilted; the harp is mute. For the Department of Agriculture has just issued a bulletin "Lessons for America. Potato Growers from German Experience," and it gives twelve pages of facts and figures to show that the subjects of the Kaiser know more about Irish potatoes than the men of the "Old Sod," who are credited with inventing them.

To begin with, Germany plants 8,000,000 acres in potatoes every year to this country's 2,500,000. And in the Vaterland they gather 202.5 bushels per acre to 96.2 bushels per acre here. Furthermore, when the summer on this side of the Atlantic is paying 56 cents a bushel for them they are costing the Berliner only 39 cents a bushel.

"A prominent reason for the low average yield per acre in this country is that we have, as a rule, fewer plants on an equal area," reads the bulletin. "Not only are wider rows and more space between hills the rule here, but various other avoidable causes result in a poor stand. The Germans plant more than twice as many seed potatoes per acre as is the custom here, or more than 24 bushels per acre."

When one travels through the country seeking the census of low yields, they are not hard to find. Imperfect, abroad. The late-blight is common to both continents, but the Colorado potato beetle and the potato flea beetle do not occur in Europe, nor is the scab of much importance there. The advantages of spraying with Bordeaux mixture to control the late-blight have been demonstrated annually for ten years by the New York Agricultural Experiment Station at Geneva, yet last year millions of bushels of New York potatoes decayed because the farmers failed to spray or did not spray thoroughly.

The problem of supplying a disease-free seed has been met and solved in Germany and the recommendation is made that the same thing be done in this country through the co-operation of potato growers' associations and the Department of Agriculture, rather than by enactment. In previous years of scarcity the United States has imported potatoes from Europe in large quantities—8,000,000 bushels in 1908 and 13,000,000 in 1911. With them came diseases hitherto unknown in America, like the blackleg and scurf and powdery scab, and the danger of importing the still more dreaded wart disease led the Secretary of Agriculture to prohibit the importation of potatoes from most of the large growing districts abroad. Hereafter, experts say, enough potatoes must be produced to supply all our needs, as most sources of foreign imports have been closed by quarantine, and unless production is increased and maintained a serious condition may arise.

The Old Oaken Bucket has been relegated to the ash heap by the Department of Agriculture which, on investigation, has found that its moss-covered sides are full of microbes and the iron hoops are anything but sanitary. Of 411 shallow farm wells examined in Indiana, the waters of 299 were found bad. 43 were found good, only 159 received clean bills of health. In Minnesota 79 wells were examined and 59 were found to be polluted. Deep wells are not exempt from suspicion, for out of 177 of such, the waters of 45 were found to be bad and 16 were doubtful. Even in the bubbling spring, the last stronghold of the rural pest, the insidious germ has been found germinating and such sources of supply should be carefully watched.

"Twenty-five of the polluted wells in Minnesota were bad only because of poor surface protection and could easily have been made safe," says a bulletin of the Department which outlines a simple sanitary system for the farm home. "Practically all of the surface supplies were polluted. During these investigations 23 of the farms examined showed a record of typhoid fever. Surface water supplies should not be used for household purposes or for washing milk cans. They should not even be used for laundry purposes unless no other supply is available. Rain water from the roof is often polluted by dust, decayed leaves and other foreign matter. The underground cistern should be of water-tight construction to prevent pollution from the neighboring soil. There should also be suitable provision for straining or filtering the water previous to its entrance to the cistern."

When the farmer figures on his water supply, the amount needed is a vital item, and to help him on this point the Department has prepared a table on water consumption. Each member of the family needs from 25 to 40 gallons per day, probably depending on their individual tastes in bathing, though the bulletin is silent on this point. Each horse requires 12 gallons per day, a cow needs 10 gallons, a hog 2½ and a sheep 2 gallons. For the family of six a 200-gallon supply should be sufficient if the water is used for the house only. On a farm where water is supplied to a family of six persons, 10 horses, 12 cows, 25 hogs and 15 sheep the daily storage supply should be at least 500 gallons, in addition to whatever supply the farmer deems necessary for fire protection.

KELLOGG STRONGLY FAVORS PLANTING WILLOWS ALONG RIVER TO PROTECT BANKS

Mr. Editor:—Apropos of your editorial in regard to the maintenance of the river channel by protecting the banks with willow growth brings to my mind the importance of this question at this time, in view of the conditions since the recent flood. The question cannot be too strongly emphasized, as it is hard to impress upon the minds of those who are most interested. The plans adopted by the directors of the Newbert Protection District specify that there shall be an open, clear channel in the center, with a berm on each side between the channel and banks, of from 70 to 100 feet wide, and a double row of willows and pampas grass along the foot of each bank. But the great trouble is in getting this work properly done. It requires care and attention in the planting and growth until they get firmly set, which of course requires some expenditure of money, as in many places irrigation would be necessary during the first two years. This can be easily done by having a portable pumping plant, and putting in wells at intervals, the depth to water being only four to six feet below the bed of the channel during the dry months. The details of such work do not appeal to the average man, who expects immediate results, and they soon decide that it does not justify the expense, not realizing the enormity of the cost in duplicating the work by constructing artificial works.

What is required is a superintendent for this work, one who understands the growth and cultivation of plants and trees, and the appropriation of sufficient funds to properly carry on the work.

My study of the protection of the banks of the Santa Ana river, dating back to 1884, has demonstrated that willows uniformly planted along the berms on the inside of the banks, are the most permanent and economical solution of the problem. The following quotation is from my report published Dec. 22, 1899:

"That a strip of land not less than 200 feet in width should be planted to willows along each bank, and the belt of willows should be left in as a protection to sand banks." This still holds good for the Santa Ana. From there on down it could be easily reduced one-half.

I made an inspection up the river on the Bixby ranch since the flood and I find that for a distance of 10 miles, where the river bottom has been disturbed for fourteen years, water is all running in a channel from 50 to 75 feet wide, and the soil is no abrasion or cut in the surface of the bottom lands on either side. These berms are covered with heavy growth of willows for a width of from 300 to 500 feet on each side which was overflown during high water to a depth of from four to four feet, the only result being a deposit of about six inches of sand. That this regime is continuous is proved by the fact that top of a corner post which was the level of the ground four years ago, was found four and a half feet below the surface. This condition also shows that the willows grow up and continue above sand deposits, while piling and other forms of construction may be entirely covered up and become useless. During the recent freshet pile wings were covered along the Newbert channel that were put in by the county 1893, and had not been seen for least a dozen years.

Doings In Social and Club Circles

CLASS DINNER PARTY

First Presbyterian Sunday School Girls and Teachers Had Charming Event

The B.C.F.S. class of the First Presbyterian Sunday school was entertained at the Wellington avenue home of Miss Isabelle Anderson last evening with a 6 o'clock dinner and a delightful social evening of music and games. Gold and silver roses were the center of the table and one of the exquisite roses was at each corner with the place cards. Souvenirs of the event were booklets containing original rhymed toast to the class from the class teacher, W. A. Zimmerman. These will be treasured by the class members, each of whom was presented with a booklet.

Places at the dinner were marked for Mr. and Mrs. Zimmerman, Miss Josephine McClory, substitute teacher; Miss Elizabeth Givens, class president; Miss Irene Smith, Lillian Fischer, Greba Scott, Ruth Harding, Inez Cooley, Elma Cooley, Elsie Lutz, Estella Nissin, Elsie Wingood, Norma Wingood, Helen Shrewsbury, Benah Thomas, Gladys Thomas, Flossie Zerman, Linna Yarnell, Lella Adams, Converse Nau, Florence Shultz, Helen Remsburg, Helen Carden; Mrs. Fraser, a house guest at the J. N. Anderson home.

Helping Hand Meeting

The Helping Hand of the First Baptist church, met recently at the home of Mrs. W. E. Winslow, 712 Bush street. The rooms were prettily decorated with flowers.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Holbrook, Mrs. Russell leading in prayer. After the business session a demonstration was given by an agent in aluminum wear. The rest of the time was spent in social conversation and fancy work. Over fifty members and visitors were present and to these were served delicious home-made cake and tea by the committee in charge.

Semi-Annual Banquet

About fifty Christian Endeavor young people met at the First Presbyterian church to enjoy their semi-annual banquet, which was served in the basement of the church. The occasion was a welcome for the new officers and a farewell for the retiring officers, who leave their work in the Christian Endeavor in splendid shape for their successors.

The long tables were beautifully decorated with red rose wreaths around the outside, and large bowls of the same kind and color in the center. Christian Endeavor tople cards and a red rose were used as favors and souvenirs. Before being seated everyone joined in singing "Praise God from Whom All Blessings Flow." A three-course repast was then served. Being April fools' day, everyone was in a hilarious mood and the evening was greatly enjoyed.

After the banquet a short business meeting, called to order by the retiring president, John Hawley, was opened with a prayer by Herbert Hamilton. Reports from the various committees were read and Mr. Hawley gave a short talk, turning his work over to his successor, Jasper Osborn. Mr. Osborn made an informal speech asking every member to work with him for the society and what it stands for. The singing of the "Glory Song" closed the evening.

The Ladies' Aid of the First Presbyterian church will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the church parlors. The ladies are requested to not forget their donations for the replenishing of the tea towels.

Mrs. Visel Was Hostess

Mrs. A. J. Visel was hostess last night at a prettily appointed dinner given at her Spurgeon street home. Gold of Ophir roses were used in decoration, the pretty flowers centering the table in a low cut glass vase on a table mirror. Ferns were also employed in the table adornment. The dinner was served in five courses and places were marked for Rev. and Mrs. William Thomas of Garden Grove, Mr. Lee of the same place and Prof. and Mrs. Baker of Santa Ana. The evening following was spent in conversation.

They also inspected an art glass dome placed in the new First Baptist church by them in memory of their father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Q. Ralph Smith.

DAUGHTERS OF VETERANS

Members of Local Society Guests of Mrs. J. T. Wilson Yesterday Afternoon

Mrs. J. T. Wilson of 329 East Pine street, was hostess yesterday afternoon at a very pleasant gathering of the daughters of Veterans. The ladies busied themselves with pretty embroidery while they chatted.

At the close of the pleasant afternoon the hostess served refreshments in two courses. Yellow and green were combined in a pleasing decorative scheme, significant of the Easter idea. Among the fern sprays scattered over the table were cunning little rabbits, and at the plates were green and yellow baskets shaped as lilies and filled with candy eggs.

Those present were: Mrs. E. A. Bell, Mrs. A. S. Holbrook, Mrs. Cood Adams, Mrs. W. H. Thomas, Mrs. Homer Peek, Mrs. George S. Smith, Mrs. P. B. Glover, Mrs. J. C. Lamb, Mrs. L. Scammon, Mrs. Barrows, Mrs. Robertson, Mrs. Crane, a sister of the hostess; Miss Esther Patterson, Miss Hazel Shallenberger, and the hostess, Mrs. J. T. Wilson.

Chafing Dish Supper

Miss Ruth Larsen was hostess last evening at a chafing dish supper for the girls of the M. N. U. Embroidery Club at her home on North Spurgeon street. Nasturtiums were used to center the table and the red and yellow tints appeared in some of the table appointments. Covers were laid for a dozen girls.

Pretty embroidery work had preceded the supper and merry conversation kept pace with the busy fingers as the young ladies sat together in the cozy parlor adorned with American Beauty roses.

Old Friends Met

Mrs. S. M. Blackburn of Los Angeles has been the guest for the past week of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Brandegee. Today the latter entertained Rev. and Mrs. E. J. Inwood at a noon dinner to meet Mrs. Blackburn. The meeting was mutually agreeable. Rev. Mr. Inwood having been Mrs. Blackburn's pastor both in Fallbrook and Los Angeles.

Economics Meeting

Mrs. William Malone's home on South Broadway was the scene of the meeting yesterday of the second section of the Household Economics. Mrs. Carl Strock and Mrs. John A. McFadden were assistant hostesses with Mrs. Malone. The afternoon's subject was "Drapery, Rugs and Laces." Mrs. Malone showed some fine old rugs and read a paper on rugs. Lovely old laces were shown by Mrs. McFadden to illustrate her paper on lace.

Delicious refreshments were daintily served, cluny lace doilies figuring largely in the pretty service.

The home was made most attractive by the use of pink Maman Cochet roses. New officers were elected, Mrs. F. C. Rowland, president, and Miss Gertrude Montgomery, secretary.

Junior League Meeting

The Junior League of the M. E. Church, South, met last evening at the Sebastian home, with Messrs. William and J. P. Sebastian and Miss Lella Sebastian acting as hosts and hostesses.

William Sebastian had charge of the interesting program which included instrumental numbers by Miss Cora Siefert; vocal solos by Elbert Jones; readings by J. P. Sebastian and Mr. Carpenter, and a cornet solo by Pullen Matthews accompanied by Miss Sebastian.

There were about twenty-five present and at the conclusion of the program refreshments were served.

Wives Surprise Knights

As the session of the Knights Templar last night was about to close, a message was received stating that there were those without who wished to enter. As the door was opened to admit them, a band of thirty-five ladies entered, masked and wearing high caps of various colors. Their entrance created some consternation, which vanished when the raised masks disclosed the features of the wives of the Knights. A basket containing caps that duplicated those worn by the intruders was passed, each Knight drawing a box. The cap he discovered was a match for one worn by some one of the ladies. Finding her, he had his partner for a delicious supper furnished by the visitors.

In the banquet room, where adjournment was made, were tables set in the form of a cross and the supper was served in the form of box lunches, with hot coffee accompanying. The boxes revealed most delectable contents, and over the sumptuous repast the Knights and their ladies lingered long with merriment reigning during the hours. Speeches, witty and entertaining, were heard after the spread.

MANY STOPPED TO RESCUE THE DUMMY

ORANGE, April 2.—About the best April Fool stunt pulled off around here was worked by a bunch of live ones who congregated at a point on West Chapman street. A dummy was fixed up, and a buggy was turned over upon it. A pair of the dummy's legs stuck out from under the wreck. Hardly a person passed by without stopping to rescue the supposed person pinned under the buggy. Just as the legs were grasped in the effort to rescue the mangled remains a laugh from the near-by orchard reminded the rescuer that it was April Fool.

"DRY" CAMPAIGN SPEAKERS IN SANTA ANA

Addressed Mass Meeting Held at U. P. Church—Central Committee Named

The first mass meeting of the "dry" campaign was held last night at the United Presbyterian church, which was well filled with those interested in the proposition to make California a dry state in 1914. City Superintendent of Schools J. A. Cranston, president of the local "Dry" Federation, was chairman of the meeting, introducing the speakers, S. W. Odell, president of the California "Dry" Federation, and Dr. Guy W. Wadsworth, superintendent of the state work. Speaking briefly on the methods of the campaign, Dr. Wadsworth was followed by Mr. Odell, who gave an enthusiastic address urging the Federation to arouse sentiment in this community, which already existed on the "dry" side, might not realize the need of persistent efforts to arouse all, not already interested, to the necessity of the present movement and to enthrone those who have temperance sentiments to put their shoulders to the wheel for California Dry. Mr. Odell answered some of the arguments advanced by the winery interests of the state, and also gave statistics showing that over 700 of the present insane of California had been made so as a direct result of liquor, while the insanity of a large number of others was caused indirectly by the same cause. A terrific argument against the use of alcoholic liquors. His address was forceful and informing.

Rev. R. A. M. Brown, composer of the campaign song, "We'll Make California Dry," sang the song and spent some time in teaching the chorus to the audience, which joined with great spirit in singing the stirring lines. This song will doubtless be heard many times in the campaign now being waged all over California. Duets were rendered last night by Mrs. Winbiger and Maurice Phillips, and Miss Dorothy Dean and Elmer Thompson.

Central Committee Named
Prior to the mass meeting the local federation completed its organization by the naming of a central committee, a man and woman being selected from each precinct. The committee is as follows:

First Precinct—R. R. Smith, Mrs. W. B. Tedford.
Second Precinct—Mr. Lee Galloway, Mrs. E. M. Smiley.
Third Precinct—T. D. Knights, Mrs.

GLORIOUS HAIR

Always Attracts—Use Parisian Sage—Thin or Faded Hair Becomes Abundant and Radiant With Life

Girls and women of all ages want to be charming, beautiful and attractive—it's their birthright—but unsightly, thin and lifeless hair destroys half the beauty of a pretty face.

If your hair is not attractive, is falling out, streaky, full of dandruff, too dry, or if the scalp itches and burns, don't delay—use Parisian Sage. Rub it well into the scalp. It will go right to the hair roots, nourish them, and stimulate the hair to grow strong and luxuriant. Parisian Sage removes dandruff with one application and cleanses the hair of dirt, dust and excessive oil.

Parisian Sage gives the hair just what is needed to make it soft, fluffy, thick and gloriously radiant. It is sold in fifty cent bottles only by Rowley Drug Co., and at all drug and toilet counters. Look for the trade-mark—"The Girl with the Auburn Hair." Accept no substitute.—Advertisement.

AT THE COURTHOUSE

JUDGE DENIES HER DIVORCE

Court Finds Evidence Insufficient for Legal Separation Asked For

On the ground that the plaintiff had failed to prove sufficient cause for divorce, Judge West denied the plea of Mrs. Emma L. Robinson of Tustin for a divorce from William J. Robinson. Mrs. Robinson alleged failure to provide as reason for legal separation. Robinson answered, alleging that the offenses complained of had been condoned. Mrs. Robinson, mother of six children, declared that she had had to work out though Robinson had a ranch worth $13,000. The decision of the court leaves the case about where it started. Robinson brought an action for divorce, and afterward dismissed it. Mrs. Robinson then sued.

Williams & Ruten represented Mrs. Robinson and C. S. Hardy the defendant.

To Quiet Title
In order to clear title to property it has occupied for twenty years, the Orange Methodist church has brought suit against Joseph Beach and others who were interested in the church in early years. L. M. Hartwick and Keech & Davis are attorneys for the plaintiff.

To Quiet Title
An action to quiet title to ranch property has been brought by Henry H. Hungerford against Dailey S. Stafford, administrator of the estate of Harvey L. Hungerford. Kendrick & Ardis of Los Angeles represent the plaintiff.

Under Adversement
Judge Thomas has not yet rendered a decision in the case of Hattie Murford, who is suing J. D. Heitschusen for $1000 for injuries received when she was run down by Heitschusen's machine at Olinda. Heitschusen is a saloon owner of Anaheim. Judge Thomas heard the evidence, then stated that he desired to go to Olinda to see the corner where the accident occurred. Heitschusen testified that he blew his horn to give warning, and that the girl stepped out in front of his machine. The testimony of the girl and others did not bear out Heitschusen's testimony on some points.

IN THE JUSTICE COURT

MAN'S JAW BROKEN BY BLOW BY FIST WARRANT ISSUED

C. M. McPatrick is Charged
With Battery as Result of Row at Brea

C. M. McPatrick and Harry Gould had a row at Brea, and McPatrick let drive a right to Gould's jaw. It was a case of where there were two licks, when Gould was hit and when Gould hit the ground. Gould's jaw was broken by the blow. McPatrick was arrested, and Justice Cox has set his trial for Saturday. The charge is battery.

For Six Months
For holding Joe Gutierrez while another Mexican slashed Joe across the cheek with a knife, Eleberto Ponce must serve six months in jail. Ponce's companions are serving terms there also.

Professional Quiz
Justice Cox gave a suspected burglar an examination in the art of barbering, and the suspect answered right up to the notch. Thus he got out of jail. The man and several others were taken off the Santa Fe last night by officers looking for a man reported to have burglarized a house at San Onofre of two razors and other stuff. One of the men had two razors. He proved to Justice Cox's satisfaction that he was a barber, not a burglar.

BOXING FANS SEE FAST BOUTS

Capacity Crowd Jams Athletic Club Gymnasium at Staging of Successful Smoker

GARLAND PROVES TOO MUCH FOR OCAMPO

Crooks-White Bout Results in Draw — Greenleaf Gets Decision Over Yons

A capacity crowd last night attended what was undoubtedly the most successful smoker so far staged by the management of the Santa Ana Athletic Club. Standing room was at a premium and, best of all, the boxing fans had an opportunity to witness some of the fastest and most clever bouts ever seen in the city.

Claude Corum and Neil Raney, those two lively Santa Ana youngsters, boxed four rounds. This event, which brought out a good round of applause, was the first of the evening. It was followed by a four-round affair between Bennie Osterman and Sam Wehber, both of Santa Ana. They boxed at 130 pounds. Honors were practically even at the finish with Osterman slightly ahead.

The next event was a four-round boxing exhibition between Grouard, of the local club, and Hendricks of the Western Athletic Club. They weighed in at 170 pounds. An interesting, though not a fast bout, Hendricks having somewhat more cleverness than Grouard.

Dick Garland was given the decision in a six-round go with Frank Ocampo, at 132 pounds. This event was perhaps the most interesting of the evening. The crowd knew that there had long been a strong rivalry between these two boxers and that something interesting might be expected in the way of speed and determination to win. They were not disappointed. While neither boy exhibited a great deal of science, their work was interesting.

The next bout, that between Lee Crooks and Joe White, was declared a draw. In the opinion of most of last night's fans this event had more life and science than any of the others. Referee Foley sprung a surprise by calling the match a draw. This was somewhat of a disappointment as the fans thought that Crooks had a shade on White in every round except the third.

Greenleaf and Yons boxed six rounds and wound up the evening's entertainment. Yons boxed in the place of Ray Rogers, who was unable to get to Santa Ana. Greenleaf was given the decision.

Garland Gets Decision The first round of the Garland-Ocampo match was devoid of interest. Both boys did a lot of walking about the ring. They appeared to be getting each other's measure. They opened up towards the end of the round. Honors even when the gong rang.

Round two furnished more excitement. Both tried to land, but failed to do any serious damage. An even round.

In the third, Garland failed to get away from one or two of Ocampo's "hay makers" but did not appear fretful. He seemed to be saving himself for future rounds. Ocampo's round.

The fourth round was about even. Between this round and the next, Referee Palen introduced Joe White of San Gabriel, as challenging the winner of the Garland-Ocampo go for any future date.

Garland began to wade in the fifth. Ocampo showed signs of fatigue. Garland began to use his left, which he had been saving, and caused Ocampo a lot of distress. Garland's round.

In the sixth Garland kept working his left like a pump handle. Ocampo failed to block effectively. Garland finished strong and Referee Foley's action in giving Garland the decision proved entirely satisfactory to the fans, who cheered wildly.

Crooks-White Bout a Draw The first round of the Crooks-White bout was easily Crooks'. Both boys showed up at blocking and following up openings.

In round two White came back stronger than in the first but failed to get out of the way of some of Crooks' heavy ones. This round belonged to Crooks.

Both boys speeded up in the third. Crooks began to land on White's kidneys. Honors even.

Crooks continued to find White's kidneys and landed several uppercuts.

Greenleaf Gets Decision The Greenleaf-Yons affair opened up quietly. Nothing serious happened and when the gong rang neither boy had outpointed the other.

Both landed in the second round. They showed a great deal of life and the round was about even, with Yons having a possible shade.

Yons bore in heavily at the start at the third and appeared to be gaining an advantage over Greenleaf when the latter opened up and finished strong. An even round.

The fourth round was practically even. In the fifth Yons had a possible shade on Greenleaf but this round, like all the rest in this bout, was evenly balanced. It was hard to tell which one, if either, was gaining the advantage.

Although Greenleaf finished strong in the sixth, the consensus of opinion on the part of the fans was that the bout should have been a draw and not a decision in favor of Greenleaf.

BODIE DIDN'T LIKE JOHNSON'S SPEED

When Ping Bodie made his first trip to Washington with the White Sox he ran up against Walter Johnson pitching on a cloudy day. This sort of weather is made to order for the big heaver. He was streaking his fast ball by the Sox batters and had them all helpless except Harry Lord, who managed to get two singles.

After striking out twice Ping rushed up to Lord and asked his formula for hitting Johnson's delivery. "Choke your bat and stand up close to the plate," advised Lord. "What?" shouted Ping. "When I bat against that fellow I am going to take hold of the end of the bat and get as far away from the plate as I can. You can choke your bat, but I am too fond of living for that."

STUTZ FOR BARNEY AT INDIANAPOLIS ON MEMORIAL DAY

Barney Oldfield is to drive a Stutz car in the 500-mile race at Indianapolis, Memorial Day. The deal was closed Monday morning in Los Angeles. Walter M. Brown, Southern California Stutz distributor, made the announcement that three Stutz cars would appear on the Indianapolis Speedway in the coming race.

While Harry C. Stutz, president of the Indianapolis concern, was in Los Angeles for the Vanderbilt and Grand Prix races, Oldfield was first approached upon the matter. It was then a question of cars. Stutz was not certain that he could build three new racers in time for the 500-mile race.

While Oldfield was negotiating with other factories, Stutz found that he could build the third car, and wired Walter M. Brown, who closed the deal with the speed king.

Gil Anderson is now at the factory in Indianapolis, personally supervising the construction of the cars, and Earl Cooper, the other California driver who is to drive at Indianapolis, intends to go east early in May.

Oldfield will remain in Los Angeles until a few days before the course is opened for practice.

WARDEN SAYS QUAIL BEGINNING TO MATE

County Game Warden Robinson reports that quail are breaking up into smaller coveys, a sign that they are beginning to mate. Owing to the large amount of rain this season will be a good one for the quail, although they will not be much more plentiful than in the last few years. They have been driven into the hill country and are difficult for hunters to get owing to the brush.

The tremendous acreage which is being farmed now does away with the natural quail habitats. Doves, because they nest in the trees, breed almost as freely in the valleys where there are orchards as they did twenty or thirty years ago when sycamores, elders and willows were plentiful.

MAXWELL IS ONE OF MOST POPULAR CARS OF THE SEASON

One of the biggest sellers this season among the various makes of automobiles that are represented in Santa Ana is the Maxwell. The little Maxwell "25" is of course the most popular, and more of them have been sold than any of the other Maxwell models; still there has been a goodly number of the Maxwell "35" and Maxwell "35" sold here.

Frank Vegely, the Maxwell agent, reports the following recent sales of cars: E. J. Daetweller, Maxwell "35"; C. M. McCala, Miss Cora McClintock and Dr. Ferguson, all of Santa Ana, and G. L. Niles of Orange, each bought a Maxwell "25."

SHIPMENTS OF FISH UNUSUALLY HEAVY

Newport News: Hundreds of boxes of fish are being shipped to the Los Angeles and San Francisco markets every day now from this locality. Nearly all of the fish are being caught below San Juan Point and from there to San Onofre, but the "daggers," as the Slavonians are usually called, have their boats equipped with powerful engines and haul the fish clear to San Pedro to market them. The start for the return trip is made about four o'clock in the evening. Some of the less powerful boats have been discharging their catch at this port.

In addition to the barracuda big catches of halibut are being made with trammel nets.

SEND ANDERSON PLAVAN TO STANFORD

Local School Wants Two of its Star Athletes to Be in Big Meet

SOUTHERN RECORDS MAKE GREAT SHOW

Several Orange County Boys Among the Best in Southern California

The friends of the local track team have decided to send Anderson and Plavan to the big state meet at Stanford University a week from Saturday. The high school students are pledging private subscriptions to send the stars up north, tags are being sold and the determination to put Santa Ana on the athletic map seems to be in a fair way of being fulfilled. Santa Ana has never won points in a meet as large as this and it will be quite a boost should the stars be sent north, for their friends feel sure that the Santa Ana boys can place in the big meet.

Although bad weather prevented record breaking at the All Southern track meet last Saturday, the marks set up this year are by no means suffering from comparison with those of last year or any other year. The high school track men of Southern California have made records that would bring in points in the big Eastern meets. Husky Pete Bagard, who is attending Pasadena High School, stands out as the premier weight man in the ranks of the interscholastic athletes. He has taken both shot and discus in every meet this season, only two heaves being necessary to win him both events. His pegs of over 51 feet for the shot and better than 130 feet for the disc place him up on a level with the college men from this part of the country. Richardson of Hollywood has passed the 45 foot mark consistently and his team-mate, Earle, has hurled the discus out for a good distance. Webster of Manual Arts and Emery of Fullerton have usually been good for first place. Vic Davidson at San Diego and Hall of Santa Paula have registered good throws.

Leslie Wark ranks first among the sprinters, having covered the hundred in 10 flat and the furlong in 22 3/5 both the same day. The Long Beach boy has time and again beaten Newby of Pasadena, Deil of Los Angeles, and Repath of Manual. Webster up at Santa Paula and Jones of Whittier have both been clocked in fast time. In the quarter Lupher of the beach town breaks the tape in the fast time of 51 1/5. Douglas, the Anaheim boy, ran a wonderful race against Lupher last Saturday, tying him after a driving finish. Cronkite of Manual, Boyles of Monrovia and Dameron of Santa Ana have all made fast laps.

In the 880 and mile, Beebe, the Anaheim wonder, is in a class by himself. His coast record of 1 min. 53 3/5 sec. in the half will probably be safe for some time to come. Conn, Pasadena's distance man, and Keech, Santa Ana's captain, make a fast pair in the middle distance. Yerkes, Manual's fast man, with Lester, the San Diego freshman, run Beebe a close race in the All Southern.

The pole vault has been a star event this year with Greive of Hollywood, Frampton and Maurer of Manual Arts and Wilcox, the Long Beach vaulter, all capable of clearing 11 feet 6 inches and then some. Murray of Orange has made 16 seconds flat in the high hurdles, and he divides honors with House of Riverside in the lows. Nourse from Harvard Military Academy, Forbes of Hollywood and King of Long Beach are among the best in the highs, while Strehle from San Diego, and Werner, the Manual man, have shown Lampert of Pomona, have shown speed in the lows. Murray and House have both run in 25 1/5 seconds.

Creighton, the Manual phenom, and Anderson of Santa Ana, stand head and shoulders above everyone else when the high jump is called. The former won the All Southern last Saturday, clearing 5 feet, 11 inches, and the local boy came back on his fourth trial and duplicated his jump. Anderson has climbed over an even six feet this year and his friends feel sure that he can out-jump the city boy in another contest. In the broad jump Santa Ana again takes precedence. Plavan is by far the most consistent jumper in the South. He had cleared 21 feet nearly every jump, and his leap of 21 1/2 had been disqualified when House came through with one good jump and grabbed the gold medal. Sneed and Werner, the Manual pair, have made good jumps this year for distance, and in the altitude event Seibert of L. A. and Gates of Hollywood are other stars.

TRIS SPEAKER. THE HIGHEST-PRICED BASEBALL PLAYER IN HISTORY OF GAME

Tris Speaker, the great star of the Boston American club, is now the highest-priced baseball player ever known to the history of the game. If all reports are true, and they have not been denied by the owners of the club, Speaker has signed a contract for $18,000 a year for two years. He was met by John J. Lannin, president of the club, when he got back from his trip around the world with the Giants and White Sox combination, and the official didn't leave him till his name was placed on a contract.

Lannin took the centerfielder to dinner and talked to him about his salary. They made no headway till Lannin mentioned $18,000 as the figure. Thereupon Speaker very quickly signed. This is one of the indications that the big league magnates are not taking the Federal League as such a joke as they have pretended. Should the Federal League fail during the coming summer, the players of the regular big league clubs will have to thank it for boosting many salaries. It was thought that Ty Cobb, who was believed to have signed a contract last year calling for a salary of $12,000, was the highest-priced ball player. This year it is understood the owners of the Washington Senators must pay Pitcher Johnson $12,000. Christy Mathewson of New York has just signed a new contract, and it is the belief that he must have been given a very high salary. The Federal League was after him and had made him an offer. Johnny Evers, deposed manager of the Cubs, was taken over by Jim Gaffney, owner of the Boston National League Club, at a salary of $10,000 for four years and a bonus of $20,000.

NO TURKEYS NOW TREE SQUIRRELS ARE HARD TO GET

Those who have been hoping to introduce Indians have practically exterminated them, but I believe the "Trabuco" country is not frequented by these people. "As to tree squirrels: So far, the Commission has had no success in catching them, although many efforts have been made. There will be no objection, so far as the Service is concerned, nor the Commission, to planting a few on the Trabuco range, and the Commission will be glad to issue any permits for this purpose on request."

"Very Truly Yours, L. A. BARKETT, Assistant District Forester."

The suggestion has been made that it is possible for the Orange County Fish and Game Protective Association to get a supply of tree squirrels independent of the State Fish and Game Commission. The protective association has some money in the treasury, and some of it might be expended in the purchase of tree squirrels. There are plenty of men who would gladly plant the squirrels in the mountains at points where they would have the best chance to thrive.

THE CULPABLE BABBLINGS OF DIOGENES DING-BUSTIT

For several weeks now I have been paunding the drum as a coy champion of out-door sports. I have bawled myself into a state of coma. I have made ascent of our mightiest buildings, perched myself upon the highest pinnacles thereof, and brayed into the megaphone to the effect that the local lethargy in regard to athletics is vain, vile and bad. I have worn out my finger nails groveling in the dust before the rabble, fanatically imploring it to list unto my plea for more interest in baseball and what not. I have made the Mergenthalers and their sweating operators groan under the undignified responsibility of unaccustomed phrases. I have made the proof reader assume the aspect of a walking skeleton as a result of his attitude of demure indifference in regard to sports. Consider the lilies of the high school, how they act. They toil not, neither do they spin, but Solomon in all his glory would not have continued to claw and clutch at his ukelele whenever there was a chance to go to a ball game. If he were living now and there were a student of the high school he'd go to all the games and meets without a murmur. Last Saturday, for instance. Along about two-thirty he'd have flung his Robert W. Chambers and his Harold McGrath behind the piano along with his used-up Spearmint and would have made trekkings to the Polytechnic diamond, there to enthroned himself upon the bleachers with the other rooters.

And the female of the high school species. Instead of helping to foster a bouncing modicum of school spirit by attending the baseball games she goes to the house of a girl friend (provided she gets up early enough on Saturday) and takes or gives instructions as to how that troublesome style of Psychic hair dressing may be best accomplished with the least expenditure of energy. Or she indulges in that sedate sport of cajoling dad to pry himself loose from the price of a new spring hat. Or she spends tortuous hours before the mirror practicing the precise manner in which Tietlow's swansdown may be applied with one hand while the other stands besides herself. It was a disheartening spectacle. We all had that blithe and frolicsome appearance commonly noted upon the countenances of ovis. Each man looked as though he appreciated the urgent need of establishing an alibi but didn't know exactly how to go about it.

It makes no difference that the Manual Arts team didn't show up. No one knew that the team wasn't going to, so that's no excuse. Besides, the money was refunded at the gate. Don't think that the high schoolers are the only ones upon whom I shall vent my spleen. The entire population of the town is equally culpable. Every man, woman and child should do all in his or her power to encourage high school athletics. And the more encouragement the Polytechnic ball players get the better ball they will play.

HIGH SCHOOL DEFEATED 8 TO 2

Redlands University Had All the Best of it in Game Yesterday

SHALLENBERGER DID PITCHING FOR LOCALS

Warren Saved for Game to Be Played Against Los Angeles Saturday

Redlands University defeated the Polytechnic nine yesterday afternoon to the tune of 8 to 2 on the local diamond.

Shallenberger pitched for the Poly team. His work was first-class. He did remarkably well, considering that he pitched his first game yesterday.

The Redlanders began to clout Ratcliff's new heater in the seventh. Up to that time he held the opposing team down extremely well. Warren's shoulder is still causing him a lot of trouble and the coach, being very anxious to make a good showing against the Los Angeles High crowd, decided to save Warren for Saturday's game here. Warren pitched the ninth inning for the locals yesterday.

The game was called at 2:28. Score: REDLANDS UNIVERSITY

TOOK DEMONSTRATOR FROM THE AGENCY

"Mr. Reece J. Webster, who resides on South Main street, almost put us out of business this week," said Mr. Somerville, with Wisdom & Company, local Reo agent, "as he insisted on taking the last 1915 Reo we had in stock, and left us without a demonstrator."

Mr. P. A. Johnson, 181 North Center street, Orange, had just telephoned his order for a car, and it was en route for delivery when Mr. Webster came in and insisted on driving the demonstrator home."

Mr. Wisdom has twice doubled his orders with the factory for the 1915 model and within a week or ten days will be able to fill all orders promptly.

A NEW SALESMAN The standardized car, the Cole, and Reo the Fifth forces, represented by Wisdom & Company at 424-426 West Fourth street, have been strengthened by the addition of another salesman.

Mr. D. F. Wisdom of Los Angeles has become associated with the company, and will have charge of sales in the northern half of the county. The large increase in business, both for the Cole and Reo necessitated the increase in the sales end of the business. Mr. Wisdom and wife arrived the first of the week and expect to make Santa Ana their future home.

STANFORD IS THE WINNER

Orange Put Up Great Basketball Game Against Fast Visitors

ORANGE, April 2.—In a rattling good game, the Stanford University Basketball Team last night defeated the Orange Athletic Club by a score of 27 to 21. It was a hard, rough game, and one that had all kinds of ginger in it to keep the audience hilarious.

Three Orange county boys played on the Stanford team. All three come from Huntington Beach. They are Captain Worthy, who had to leave the game on account of a sprained ankle; Blodgett and Farrar. Worthy and Blodgett play forwards and Farrar guard. At the end of the first half the score was 13 to 13.

COULTER'S QUEER STORY.

It Was Thought He Had Discovered Hades, but He Hadn't.

At a gathering in Milwaukee a well known minister was called on to tell a story, and this is what he told:

"Did you ever hear of Coulter's hell?" Of the two men lost by the great Lewis and Clark expedition of 1803 on its long journey through the northwest one was a man named Coulter. He was captured by Indians, who stripped him and set him to running the gantlet.

"Outriggering their blows, he snatched a spear from the last Indian, killed him with it and ran into the mountains naked and wounded, but at last free and armed. Wandering toward the southeast, he presently found himself in a land where the forces of nature appeared to have gone mad together. Rivers from which he sought to drink ran hot water, boiling fountains gushed hundreds of feet in the air, volcanoes of black mud vomited at him, bubbling fountains of snow white mud gushed around, with others of crimson and blue and green. A mountain of pure sulphur crystals rose on one hand, and from beside a stream rose another composed of black glass almost as clear as a window pane.

"At last, escaping from the place, he was found by some trappers, who clothed him and took him to St. Louis, where they reported him as one whose mind had been wrecked by his experiences. Wherever he told of the frightful country which he swore he had seen men roared with mirth at the yarn and made him tell and retell it till within a few years it went all over the west as an example of the effect of the horrors of being lost on the human mind. It was commonly known as 'the story of Coulter's hell,' and under that name it frequently appeared in the eastern papers in the early thirties and forties. Coulter himself finally died regarded to the last as a hopeless maniac.

"And then in 1899 some Montana trappers wandered into the region and came back with the astounding tale that Coulter had told the truth and had never been insane at all. The government immediately rushed soldiers and scientists into the country, and before long it became the Yellowstone National park. And that is the story of Coulter's hell."—Milwaukee Journal.

NERVE IN BASEBALL.

Result of a Wild Throw to Third With the Bases Full.

Charley Doolin, one of the famous catchers of the National league, tells a story to the effect that after a brief trial with the St. Paul club in 1880 Charles A. Comiskey, then its manager, advised him to return to the tailoring business and stick to it.

Another yarn concerning Doolin tells how a little later on and when he was still little more than a youth and weighing in the neighborhood of 115 pounds, he wished himself upon Manager McKibben of the St. Joseph club. When Doolin reported Mac walked around him twice and then announced that he wanted a catcher and not a jockey. Injuries to regulars, however, gave the boy his chance, and he was sent in to backstop for "Big Jim" Wiggins.

In his first game Doolin wanted to prove that in addition to being a catcher he was some thrower. When he heaved to second the baseman would have needed a ladder to get the ball; to third his legs were low, and his shoots to first nearly took the sacker off his feet. After his wild throws had filled the bases in one inning he threw to third again to catch a runner off the cushion. The ball went so high the left fielder almost got to it on the fly, while "everybody came home."

When the inning was over Doolin had four errors charged against him, and he walked to the clubhouse and began to pack up his clothes. McKibben stopped him, saying his nerve in daring to throw to third to catch a man off with the bases full, caused by his previous bad throws, deserved another chance. Doolin stuck and caught almost every game that season. His next jump was to the Phillies, and his reputation was made.—Ed A. Goewey in Leslie's.

Made Her More Nervous.

She was rather a nervous old lady and, fearful of being robbed of her purse, kept it in a pocket of her undershirt. Taking a cab, she, at the end of the journey, began searching, as ladies do, for the carefully concealed pocket. The cabby, misconstruing her movements, looked on grimly.

"Well, mem," he broke in, "when you've done a-scratching, me fare's 18 pence."—London Tatler.

TROUT SCARCE HARD TO HOOK

Many of the Anglers Return from First Day's Fishing With Few Fish

There were but few trout caught in the Orange county streams yesterday. All reports received so far indicate that the fish are scarce, and that just now they are not overly eager to grab the bait.

About twelve or fifteen fishermen whipped the waters above Mrs. Morris' place, and also below it, and 150 or 200 fish altogether answered to the lure of the barbed worm.

H. T. Rutherford, J. W. Tubbs, Hal McCullough, Dr. Patton and Howard Turner were in one party. Two of them got between thirty-five and forty fish each, the best catches reported, and the others did not average two each. The good catches were well up the canyon near the falls.

Ed Larter and Fred Mallett of Westminster made fair catches in the same vicinity.

Victor Walker and Tom Hill got eight or ten nice fish in the Trabuco below Sleeper's, but it took lots of patience to find them. A few small catches of fair-sized fish are reported from along the lower San Juan.

Game Warden Robinson was at Mrs. Morris' place. He found no one fishing without an angler's license.

The fishermen are hopeful that the angling will improve in the next month.

RAILROAD CHIEF LIKES CADILLAC

E. P. Ripley, president of the Santa Fe, recently returned to Santa Barbara after completing a tour of Southern California in a Cadillac touring car. He was accompanied by his wife and daughter. Their tour extended to many of the principal points of interest within 100 miles of Los Angeles.

President Ripley is a Cadillac enthusiast. He owns a Cadillac in California and another in Chicago. Being the head of one of the greatest railway systems in the world, his time is valuable and he must have a car in which he can place absolute dependability. Delays would be serious for a man like Mr. Ripley and he must always get back when scheduled.

The Cadillac has always been prominent in every branch of the Santa Fe. The purchasing agent has bought 39 Cadillac cars and they are in service in all branches of the system.

At one time 25 Cadillacs were used by the Santa Fe in the oil district around Bakersfield. The cars were kept on the go night and day and throughout the Santa Fe service the officials swear by the Cadillac.

Willing to Oblige.

Brilliant sunshine made the garden party enjoyable. The garden really was a garden, and, though most of the guests clustered on the lawn, one or two wiser people sauntered around the rose bordered paths.

Two of these were seated in a quiet part of the garden enjoying the scent of the flowers and the solitude. They were engaged. Presently a mutual friend sauntered down the path and noticed them.

"You two seem to be enjoying yourselves over here all alone," said he.

"We are," said the girl and, being a girl, managed to look pleased to see him. "Won't you join us?"

"Sorry, I can't," answered the friend, "not being a clergyman. But I'll go and find one if you say so."—New York Mail.

Couldn't Afford to Run.

When Jacob M. Dickinson, formerly secretary of war, as a member of the Alaskan boundary tribunal was called upon suddenly to make his argument because Sir Edward Carson had concluded his remarks one day ahead of time he began by telling a story: "So far from feeling any sense of confidence," he said to the president of the court, "I am in a position very deeply to sympathize with the feeling of the Confederate soldier who, when the battle line was sweeping forward in the last fearful charge at Chickamauga and a rabbit jumped up and ran through to the rear, cried out: 'Run, cottonball! If I did not have any more character at stake than you have I would run too.'"

Remembered It.

"What," said a teacher to a boy with a slow memory, who had tried in vain to tell the name of the schoolmaster; "can't you remember your master's name?"

"No, sir."

"My name is Brown, blockhead!"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, now see if you can repeat it. What is my name?"

"Brown Blockhead, sir."—Exchange.

"It looks like rain!"
"I beg your pardon."
"I say it looks like rain."
"What does?"
"The weather."
"The weather, my dear sir, is a condition. Rain is water in the act of falling from the clouds. It is impossible that they should look alike."
"What I meant was that the sky looked like rain."

"Equally impossible. The sky is the blue vault above us—the seeming arch or dome that we call the heavens. It does not resemble falling water in the least."
"Well, then, if you are so thunderingly particular, it looks as if it would rain."
"As if what would rain?"
"The weather, of course."
"The weather, as before stated, being a condition, cannot rain."

"The clouds then, confound you. I may not know as much about it as you do, but I've got enough sense to get in out of it, and you haven't," said the man, as he raised his umbrella and walked away in a huff.—Pearson's Weekly.

TLE SPEED FEUD ON FULLERTON HILL

en two owners of motor cars together and each one knows with the faintest possibility of a doubt his own car is faster than the fellow's there is a likelihood of surrounding ether becoming surd with vitriolic expletives and ous invectives. Usually the ot of the matter is that, provided two arguers are sportmen, they take their respective cars out the highways, speed laws or no d laws, and proceed to duel it out. is is precisely what happened Saturday and Sunday. The argu- t in this case began some time rday afternoon and culminated in agreement to fight it out the next was a foregone conclusion that of the machine owners would be uished. In fact, one of them did out. So, out of consideration for feelings of the unsuccessful con- ant no names will be mentioned. ill be sufficient to say that one hine was a Columbia and the oth- a Buick.

he Buick owner made a casual quite unpremeditated remark to effect that his car could go over Fullerton hill faster than the Co- lumbia. Elwood's. Also remarks ally printed in the newspapers in wise:

he race was finally arranged to e place Sunday morning at about 30. Followed then tremendous parations on the parts of the own- of the two motors. There was a at filing of magneto points, a low- ing of tops and windshields, a "ding- adjustments, etc.

After a great deal of haranguing it s decided by the two contestants at the start would be made from the dge south of the Fullerton hill, ere was to be a standing start and wind-up point of the race was to the summit of the hill.

Sunday morning rolled around in e course of time and found the two al automobile owners on hand, idy to do or die.

To make a long story short the Co- lumbia went over the Fullerton hill at speed of about 44 miles per hour, die the Buick's speedometer reg- ered 35.

Of course the Buick owner wasn't tensely satisfied or pleased with the come, but, anyway, he had the sat- action of demonstrating to himself at he was wrong when he said that s Buick could go over the Fullerton il faster than the Columbia.

JINX PROWLs AFTER MOTOR BIKE RIDERS

Five riders of Indian motorcycles, John Swanner, Floyd Bush, Glenn Young, Harry Osborne, Leroy Din- woodie and Walter Stafford, the latter riding tandem on one of the ma- chines, left here at 1.30 Sunday on their way to the San Juan Hot Springs. It must have been some- what of a jinx day for the steerers of the gas bicycles. The jinx got busy on the way down, for Harry Osborne broke the seat bolt of his machine at Irvine and was forced to drop out. The others all continued.

The four remaining machines had passed Capistrano and gotten as far as the third crossing when the jinx got busy again. It started to rain. The motorcyclists turned back about 3 o'clock. The jinx was working fine. It kept on raining harder and harder. By the time the riders got to El Toro they were doing the "motor- cycle glide." The machines skidded and slipped so badly that it was hard to tell whether the riders were really riding the machines or just pushing them along, or lying in the road with the motorcycles on top.

They took the train at El Toro and loaded the motorcycles into the bag- gage car. That is, all but Dinwoodie. He had gotten a little earlier start than the rest and was well on his way back to Santa Ana before the worst of the rain began falling.

But the joke of the whole thing is that those who took the train at El Toro didn't know that Dinwoodie got into Santa Ana all right. They sup- posed when Monday rolled around, that Dinwoodie was still out in the hills somewhere between El Toro and Irvine floundering in the mud and ad- dressing passionate remarks to his sliding motorcycle. In fact, the ones who came back on the train were get- ting ready to send a horse and buggy to El Toro for Dinwoodie when they found him at the Indian agency, whistling as though nothing had hap- pened.

One Way to Clean Windows.

There are so many "best" ways to clean windows that one hesitates to offer her method unless very sure it is the way. Three or four ounces of emery flour in a heavy canvas sack about six inches square will clean and polish windows with greater ease than anything else I know. Simply rub the bag over the window. It also removes streaks from any glass.—Women's Home Companion.

In the drum are 30,000 holes for brass pegs which touch the trackers and move the wires communicating with the bell hammers. The alrs are changed once each year, but the drum must be wound up every two hours.

TWO BASEBALL STARS OF THE WORLD'S TOURISTS WHO HAVE BEEN SOUGHT BY FEDERAL LEAGUE

Sam Crawford of the Detroit. Tris Speaker of the Boston Americans.

Sam Crawford, the heavy-hitting outfielder of the Detroit, and Tris Speaker, the star of the Boston Americans, were the two baseball players with the round-the-world tour most sought by the Federal League managers when they arrived on the Lusitania Friday. Neither, it was said, had signed with his club for the season of 1914. Consequently, the Federal League men sought them out to make of- fers. Other stars with the world's tourists had already signed. Both signed, on the day of their arrival, with their old clubs. Speaker, it is said, is to receive $18,000 a year for two years.

Princely Gifts to the University of California

That gifts of a total value of be- tween two and three million dollars had come to the University of Cali- fornia during the past twelve months, was announced by President Wheeler in his address at the annual Charter Day exercises in the Greek theater.

Most memorable of these gifts was the founding of the George William Hooper Institute of Medical Research. For this Mrs. Sophronia T. Hooper of San Francisco gave some 5,000 acres of redwood timber lands in Humboldt county, representing an endowment of close on to two million dollars. The whole income, amounting to $50,000 per annum, is to be devoted to the scientific investigation as to the cause, cure and prevention of disease.

For the erection of a new Teaching Hospital $615,720 has been subscribed during the year. To this fund mem- bers of the Crocker family gave $150,000. In memory of George Crocker, the individual donors of this amount be- ing as follows: Mrs. Harriet C. Alex- ander, $50,000; William H. Crocker, $50,000; Charles Templeton Crocker, $25,000, and Mrs. Malcolm Whitman, $25,000. John M. Keith gave $150,000 in memory of his wife. Strassburger, and Rosenberg Bros. Co., $500 each.

For the maintenance of four beds for cancer cases, Mrs. Elise A. Drexler has provided a yearly gift of $2400. Other gifts for scientific research were the contribution by Ogden Mills of $8250 per annum to maintain the D. O. Mills expedition from the Lick Observatory to the southern hemi- sphere to study the movements of stars in the line of sight; the gift of Miss Ellen B. Scripps of more than $10,000 per annum to maintain the Scripps Institution for Biological Re- search at La Jolla, together with a special gift of $22,230 for additional building operations, library, etc.; the maintenance by Miss Annie M. Alex- ander at a cost of $9,000 per annum of the California Museum of Vertebrate Zoology, where her generosity has assembled a collection of 25,000 birds, 20,000 mammals and 5000 reptiles; a gift from various friends for paleon- tological explorations, including the work in the remarkable asphalt beds at the Rancho La Brea near Los An- geles. A great addition of the year to the buildings of the University is the Sather Campanile, a 300-foot bell-tower of granite and white marble, for which Mrs. James K. Sather has given $200,000 together with $20,000 for chimes. Other additions to equipment during the year are lands costing $31,840.68 given to the University by the students for an athletic field, togeth- er with an offer by the students to build a new track; a marble Alex- bronze drinking fountain given by the class of 1914; several thousand dol- lars given by Mr. William Randolph Hearst for structural improvements for the Greek theater; and valuable stage settings for the Greek theater given by Miss Margaret Anglin; and $11,500 given by Mrs. Hearst for mon- umental approaches to the Hearst Memorial Mining building and for the roads, fountain and planting around the building.

Among Mrs. Hearst's other gifts dur- ing the year were $2500 toward an outdoor swimming pool for the women students, near Hearst hall, the wo- men's gymnasium; $2000 toward salar- ies in mining and architecture; $1680 toward the maintenance of the depart- ment of anthropology, and $2400 to- ward the Hearst scholarships for wo- men, together with various gifts to the library and museum.

Other gifts to the library were the library of Prof. Thomas Rutherford Bacon, given by his former students; $4000 given by an alumnus for books in history and for library endowment; several hundred Spanish works given by J. C. Cebrian of San Francisco; 800 volumes of law books from the li- brary of John R. Glasscock, '65, given by Mrs. Glasscock; $500 for books in Pacific Coast history, given by Sir Richard McBride, premier of British Columbia; $100 given by the Knights of St. Patrick for Irish books; and $100 given by George L. Foote for works in music.

Regent Isalvas W. Hellman has given $2500 for lectures by Dr. Herman Paasche, First Vice-President of the German Reichstag, on the govern- mental institutions of Germany; and Raphael Weill, $150 for lectures by Prof. F. Baldersperger of Paris.

To endow the Forestus Phelps Mem- orial Loan Fund Mrs. Edith P. Ham- brook of Santa Cruz has given $6000. F. W. Bradley, '86, president of the Alaska-Treadwell Gold Mining Co., has offered $1000 per annum for at least ten years as a loan fund for stu- dents of mining and metallurgy. Other loan fund gifts have been: the class of 1897, $1005; the San Jose dis- trict of the California Federation of Women's Clubs, $125; the Napa Sem- inary Club, $100; the class of '81, $50. From the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching comes a gift now amounting to $15,140 per annum for pensions for professors and the widows of professors.

Gifts for prizes have included the following: A. Bonheim, the Bonn- heim debate and essay prize; the Home Industry League of California, $25; O. K. Cushing, $100, for an essay on some subject connected with the law of procedure; Alumni Council of the Newman Club, $100; Samuel C. Irving, '79, $25; and the Dante Al- ghieri Society of San Francisco, $40.

Without the endowments which have come to the University by private generosity in past years, and without the yearly recurring gifts up- on which much of the work of the University is dependent, it would be impossible for the University to do the work to which it has put its hand. Even without including the many mil- lions which have been given for lands, buildings, scientific, anthropological and art collections, equipment, and books, the privately given endowment now actually productive amounts to- day to over five million dollars.

WINNER OF THE GLIDDEN TOUR

No Clutch to Slip
No Gears to Strip

It will do more work for less money than any other car on the mar- ket. The Metz "22" travels 28 to 35 miles on one gallon of gas— 100 miles on one pint of oil, and from 10,000 to 20,000 on one set of tires. And in addition to being the most economical car to oper- ate it keeps down repair bills by keeping out of the shop. Its me- chanical construction is so simple and compact that there is little about it to get out of order. The Metz cars in the Glidden Tour from Minneapolis to Glacier National Park, Mont., were the only cars that checked in at every control with a perfect score. The Glidden Tour is not a "race" on a prepared track or over a choice course. The Metz won simply because it possesses these qualities to an exceptionally high degree—and yet it is the lowest priced car on the market and the most economical to operate.

SPECIAL WASHINGTON LETTER

By Burton K. Standish

WASHINGTON, April 2.—The light of Democratic "pitiless publicity" is waning. Legislators are not quite as anxious to probe everything under the sun from Esperanto to the "base ball trust" as they were once upon a time.

Nevertheless the investigation epidemic remains sufficiently serious to give the House rules committee serious food for thought. This meal process has led them to the conclusion that if this searchlight business continues, Congress must resolve itself into nothing more than a vast inquisitorial body.

Hence, the edict has gone forth from the House rules committee that hereafter the lid is on tight as far as investigations are concerned. In order to make good this edict the committee has pigeonholed no less than 43 investigation resolutions. Some of them have had action, such as the Calumet and Colorado strike, under the forceful effect of a House caucus. Then there has been a probe of Mulhall charges against the National Association of Manufacturers and others. But the majority of the forty-three resolutions introduced in this Congress have had no committee action and will never again see the light of day, according to authoritative information from the committee.

And the rules committee is a vastly powerful body—their edict will, unless a group of Democrats, disgruntled by such course, force Congress into action by the caucus route. Every time some big question is before the public, a flock of investigating resolutions pours in upon the rules committee.

The forty-three resolutions above mentioned, represent only separate subjects, but the pigeonholes in the rules committee room hide scores of duplicates.

Sometimes the investigation resolution is for the purpose of creating political capital. The congressman sees in a popular subject the chance to make himself solid with the folks back home, and in goes a resolution. Anything, of course, that affects the price of living is a live wire subject for the enterprising congressman, and even if beefsteak or bread remains just as high—or goes higher—Mr. Congressman gets credit back in his district for looking out for the plain folks. And they're the people who cast the votes.

Probably, however, the majority of such resolutions do not arise solely from the desire to get votes. Most of the investigations proposed have behind them a vital public interest, or a condition in which publicity means correction.

The House rules committee, however, now takes the position that the majority of the petitions cover subjects which can readily be dealt with by other branches of the government. For instance, there are impending resolutions to investigate the Rock Island railroad, the Pere Marquette railroad, the Chicago, Duluth and Minneapolis wheat markets. All of these matters could readily come under the purview of existing government bodies—the former under the Interstate Commerce Commission, the latter under the Department of Justice and the bureau of corporations.

The flood of resolutions, however, is dwindling. When the Democrats first came into power, they wanted everything investigated. Appropriations galore, expenditures without end. Ah, they were made by Republicans, and were they not proper matters for Democratic "pitiless publicity?"

Then after their first enthusiasm, the Democrats forgot that the Republicans had ever existed. Subsequent investigations would cover such subjects as the dissolution of the American Tobacco Company, the American Woolen Company, the forest service, the use of Esperanto as an auxiliary language and so on, ad libitum.

of helping those distracted clerks. All this was NEWS. It was sent broadcast over the country.

Then came to bat several of New York's sons of whom Father Knickerbocker is justly proud. John Clafin, owner of a great department store, and who might be called an "amateur philanthropist" because he does so much good and little is known of it, said he could care for several hundred of the jobless clerks at his store. He and a full force and didn't know what work he could put these discharged Siegel clerks to doing, but he had a great big, warm heart, and he stepped into the breach. His announcement was no sooner made than J. D. Greenhut, another department store owner, followed with a similar offer. And then, actually, the heads of other big establishments here all but exhibited jealousy in giving positions to the former Siegel clerks.

These offers to help contained good "human interest copy," but Siegel and Vogel had been indicted and all the details of their failure had been often printed, so the story was "stale." Besides, a free gunmen outbreak "crowded out" the human interest feature and people outside of the immediate vicinity of Greater New York never knew anything about the material proof that the great city is not without a heart.

In many ways, New York, the greatest city in America and the second greatest city of the world, is as small as the tiniest incorporated town. It may have its wonderful subways; and it may have its record-breaking, cloud-punching buildings; and it may be the "finest" in every way, but it still has its Board of Aldermen, and those aldermen are human beings; and in some ways they are just about as provincial as the most provincial of provincials.

For instance—and this is only one of a hundred cases that might be mentioned, New York, very properly, has a Sunday closing law for barrooms and all places where liquors are sold, excepting those restaurants and cafes that pay heavily for an open Sunday license. The law was made by the Board of Aldermen.

The Board of Aldermen, during a deeply religious spasm also passed an ordinance prohibiting the ubiquitous New York delicatessen shops from keeping open all day on Sundays. The ordinance says these delicatessen shops can remain open only between the hours of 7 and 10 a. m. and 4 and 7 p. m. on the Sabbath. And that ordinance is enforced with a strictness that would do duty to enforcement of law during military rule. This, in spite of the fact that New Yorkers by the hundreds of thousands are absolutely dependent on delicatessen shops, where every cooked and ready-to-eat article known to man, as well as uncooked foodstuffs, are on sale. The innumerable kitchenless and kitchenette apartments have been the mothers of the delicatessen invention, which is as much a necessity as a drug store, and some times more so. Nevertheless, the aldermanic lid on delicatessen shops is as fixed and immovable "out of hours" as is the moon in its orbit.

And here is where the silly part comes in. The Sunday law is supposed to be inviolate, but if a man has the price he could find via the "back door" and the "family entrance" enough barrooms and saloons openly doing business on Sunday from the Battery to the upper end of the Island of Manhattan or the Bronx, on Broadway and the side streets to supply any ten of the thirstiest and largest cities of America with alcoholic quenchers. Some one has suggested back doors for the delicatessens.

NEWSY NEWS FROM NEW YORK

By Carlton Ten Eyck

NEW YORK, April 2.—Cruel New York isn't much more than two-thirds as bad as the Greater City is painted. At least it cannot be gainsaid that, relatively, there is as much good in wicked New York as there is in any other American city. Let some one in Father Knickerbocker's family of something over 5,000,000 souls kick up a gunmen's row on the East Side, or a brutal murder, or attempt to infect some of the slime-covered police system linen, and the whole world knows about it the next afternoon. But let some philanthropic, large-souled son of Gotham reach out a helping hand to his broken neighbor and it creates little stir for the simple reason that it is not as good "copy" as a fight or a murder or an expose of police system grafting.

Witness the recent closing down of the two Henry Siegel stores here. For days the news was full of the alleged actions of Henry Siegel and Frank E.

Vogel, whose methods, whether legal or illegal, resulted in closing up two of New York's biggest department stores that employed some 3500 clerks, most of them $5 and $6 a week girls. Many of these girls had come to New York from the country. They were living alone in cheap boarding houses or furnished rooms. It took every penny of their paltry wages to exist—they couldn't really live on what they got.

At least 1000 of these girl clerks and men who had families dependent upon them faced direct poverty. They had nothing. It was a mighty poor season for department store clerks and shopgirls to expect to land jobs. The situation was alarming for 1000 human beings, a number that wasn't really a "drop in the bucket" of New York's millions of people. Societies formed for the purpose of combating just such conditions talked and planned and did some good in the way

ELY'S CREAM BALM OPENS CLOGGED NOSTRILS AND HEAD--CATARRH GOES

Instantly Clears Air Passages; You Breathe Freely, Nasty Discharge Stops, Head Colds and Dull Headache Vanish.

Try "Ely's Cream Balm." Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it. Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately. Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dripping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.—Advertisement.

LOS ANGELES PRODUCE MARKET

Everything was steady and few prices changed on the local market yesterday. Egg receipts were 800 cases and a shipment of fair size was also reported from the north. Butter arrivals were normal, 34,350 pounds. The market here and in the north was steady. Northern fresh cheese sold freely and the quotations held at 10 cents. Some eastern sales were also reported. Receipts of cheese were 4250 pads.

The demand for spuds was good and the quotation on fancy grades showed a little more firmness than for several days past. Arrivals were 1292 sacks. The call for onions was good and no further foreign onions were reported among arrivals. Sweet potatoes recovered from their weakness and brought a trifle better price than on the day previous. New potatoes sold at $2 per lug box again, having been boosted by the heavy call.

Vegetables were in good call. String beans and wax beans were very firm. Artichokes are plentiful and selling 35 cents to 50 cents a dozen, according to size. There were no new arrivals on the list.

BEAR VALLEY TROUT FISHERS MAY PUT IN PRIVATE HATCHERY

If the attempts of the sportsmen of San Bernardino county to secure the establishment of a state hatchery in the Bear Valley section fails, the local fishermen may form an association for the purpose of putting in a private hatchery. Wm. Talmadge, owner of the Jim Smart springs, which gush forth large quantities of clear, pure water above Bear Lake, has offered to donate the use of the water for a privately-owned hatchery if it should be determined to take action on that line. The state has been doing some work in the way of caring for the spawning fish in Bear Lake, but as yet the local men have received little encouragement in the direction of a hatchery. They assert the state collects vast sums for license in Southern California, but spends none of the money here, the North getting most of the benefits.

IF BACK HURTS USE SALTS FOR KIDNEYS

Eat Less Meat if Kidneys Feel Like Lead or Bladder Bothers

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders. You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Advertisement.

Frank Moran is Going to Fight Jack Johnson in Paris

Frank Moran, who is matched to fight Jack Johnson, the so-called heavy-weight champion of the world, June 27 in Paris, has just come back to the United States. Moran is confident Johnson will fight him, and that the big black will go down.

Of course, few contend, perhaps no, even Moran himself, that he would beat Johnson in his prime. But the black has been going a hard pace since he won from Jim Jeffries. He has had some worries, too—in keeping out of jail on very serious charges against him in Chicago. He is not the boxer he was once, and Moran, who is a very strong and fairly clever heavyweight, may be able to beat him.

The white hope is about six feet one inch tall. He weighs about 200 pounds, and he has a hard, straight punch, which is powerful enough to knock out Johnson or any one else whom he may hit with it. The fight will not take place for some time, and the prospect of easy money on the vaudeville circuit has brought Moran back to the country. He figures that every American fight fan will see the man who has a chance to beat Johnson. In the trick, is waiting in loophole through meantime, his man—Paris, to see that which he may crawl ager, Dan McKet—Johnson finds no out of the match.

Sporting Briefs of the Week

[By Hal Sheridan]

NEW YORK, April 2.—One million big iron dollars—that is the value Frank Moran, the Pittsburg "white hope" places on a knockout punch in his coming bout with Jack Johnson in Paris. It is altogether probable that Moran's pretty blonde coiffure will be slightly mussed before he puts over that coveted sleep wallop, as the big dinger is known to have a kick that would make an army mule look like a sure enough piker. If confidence can win the mill, then Moran has it corralled right now. The only weakness in his armor plate of assurance is over confidence.

A hay-maker on Moran's part will echo "round the world, for it will mean the supremacy of the white man in the ring again. Such a blow will lift the white man's burden dropped by Jim Jeffries at Reno, July 4, 1910. It will cause as big a ripple as T. R.'s charge up San Juan Hill or the announcement that peace is assured in Mexico.

The battle for the title will be staged at the Velodrome d'Hiver, Paris, on the night of June 27, as a curtain raiser to the Grand Prix, the biggest event of the French turf. The building has a seating capacity of 30,000 and present indications are that it will be jammed. Admission will range from $3 to $50 a seat. Johnson has been guaranteed $35,000 for his part in the battle. Moran will receive $5000. In addition to this, both fighters will split the revenue from the moving picture privilege.

The bout is scheduled to go twenty rounds. Whether it will last that long depends altogether on "Ze wallop." Time only will tell whether the little Dame Fortune favors Moran or Johnson. Choice of referee now has divided down to seven men. They are Billy Roche, Charlie White, Ed Smith, Jim Griffin, Eugene Corri, Frank Reichel and Amiel Maitrot. At the conclusion of a five weeks' vaudeville tour, Moran will leave for Paris and will train at the Auperi Conjon, about an hour's ride from the French capital. The big cinder will train for the fight at Maison Lafitte, another suburb.

Disruption in the ranks of the New York Yacht Club is imminent if the committee in charge sticks to its present intention to sail the races to choose a defender to meet Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock IV for the America's cup off Newport, instead of off Sandy Hook. Those favoring Sandy Hook say the trials should be conducted out in the open water on the cup course. The committee's announced reason for selecting Newport is that at the further end of Long Island Sound the three defenders will be safe from prying eyes of Sir Thomas' scouts. It is a cinch that, with very little additional expense, the Englishman could send his spies to Newport. The real trials of the cup defenders will be raced in August and it is expected that the question as to what course shall be utilized will be threshed out shortly.

With the opening of the racing season near at hand, it is recalled that many of the turf plungers whose betting operations got the racing game into hot water in New York State have either died or retired. The late Davy Johnson, who made $52,000 in a single day at Belmont Park, passed away without leaving a dollar. Pittsburg Phil bequeathed a great fortune to his relatives. John W. Gates was among the few who beat the bookmakers at their own game. Joe Ullman, operator of the famous Big Store book, died several years ago. Joe Yaeger and W. C. Yanke now confine their gambling to Western tracks. John A. Drake hasn't placed a bet in several years. Bill Cowen, Sol Lichenstein, Orlando Jones, Charlie Elliott and Eddie Burke have all passed up the bookmaking game. George Rose, once one of the heaviest plungers in the local rings, has lost his wad. There are scores of others who have quit the gambling end of the turf game, but these are enough to show that racetrack speculation has been reduced to a minimum.

Besides being a pitcher of no mean ability, Eddie Porroy, signed as a pennant winner by the Buffalo Federals, has other marks on his slate of fame. In the first place, Eddie is out to push the Marquis Rube Marquard off the boards, for Eddie's papa is a sure "huff" baron—Russian, if you please. Eddie, in these days of Cuban prominence, claims to be the only Russian player on the American diamond. Being a wise kid, Eddie left the czar's domain when only three years old, being aided by the czar's police, who were after his dad for being a revolutionist. And last, but not least, Porroy is the Paderewski pitcher. When it comes to caressing the ivories, Eddie is there, with a capital T. He dotes on ragtime, but can tickle the good stuff out of McDowell or come crashing along from Wagner—not Hans, but Dick—or ring true on Mozart, Chopin or any of the big league musical stars.

Don't dance; don't smoke and DON'T CHEW GUM! Those are the rules laid down by Coach Vivian Nickalls to the crew candidates at the University of Pennsylvania. The first two don'ts went straight home with the would-be oarsmen, but the ban on chewing gum is still a mystery around Weightman Hall. Nickalls has refused to say just why he barred the first aid to the distressed shop-girl. Perhaps it wasn't from a hygiene standpoint. His only comment was, "A fellow who chews gum isn't timber for the Penn crew. Leave the jaw exercise to the women." Failure to live up to the rules will mean suspension, Nickalls has decreed.

REDLANDS TRACT SELLS AT $325 PER FRONT FOOT

REDLANDS, April 2.—Herbert White of Los Angeles has purchased from Dr. C. J. Williams a syndicate tract of land with a frontage of 200 feet on Fifth street, adjoining the Santa Fe railway. It is now leased to the Russ Lumber Company for yards. Involved in the deal is an exchange of some alfalfa land in Perris Valley. The consideration was $60,000.
